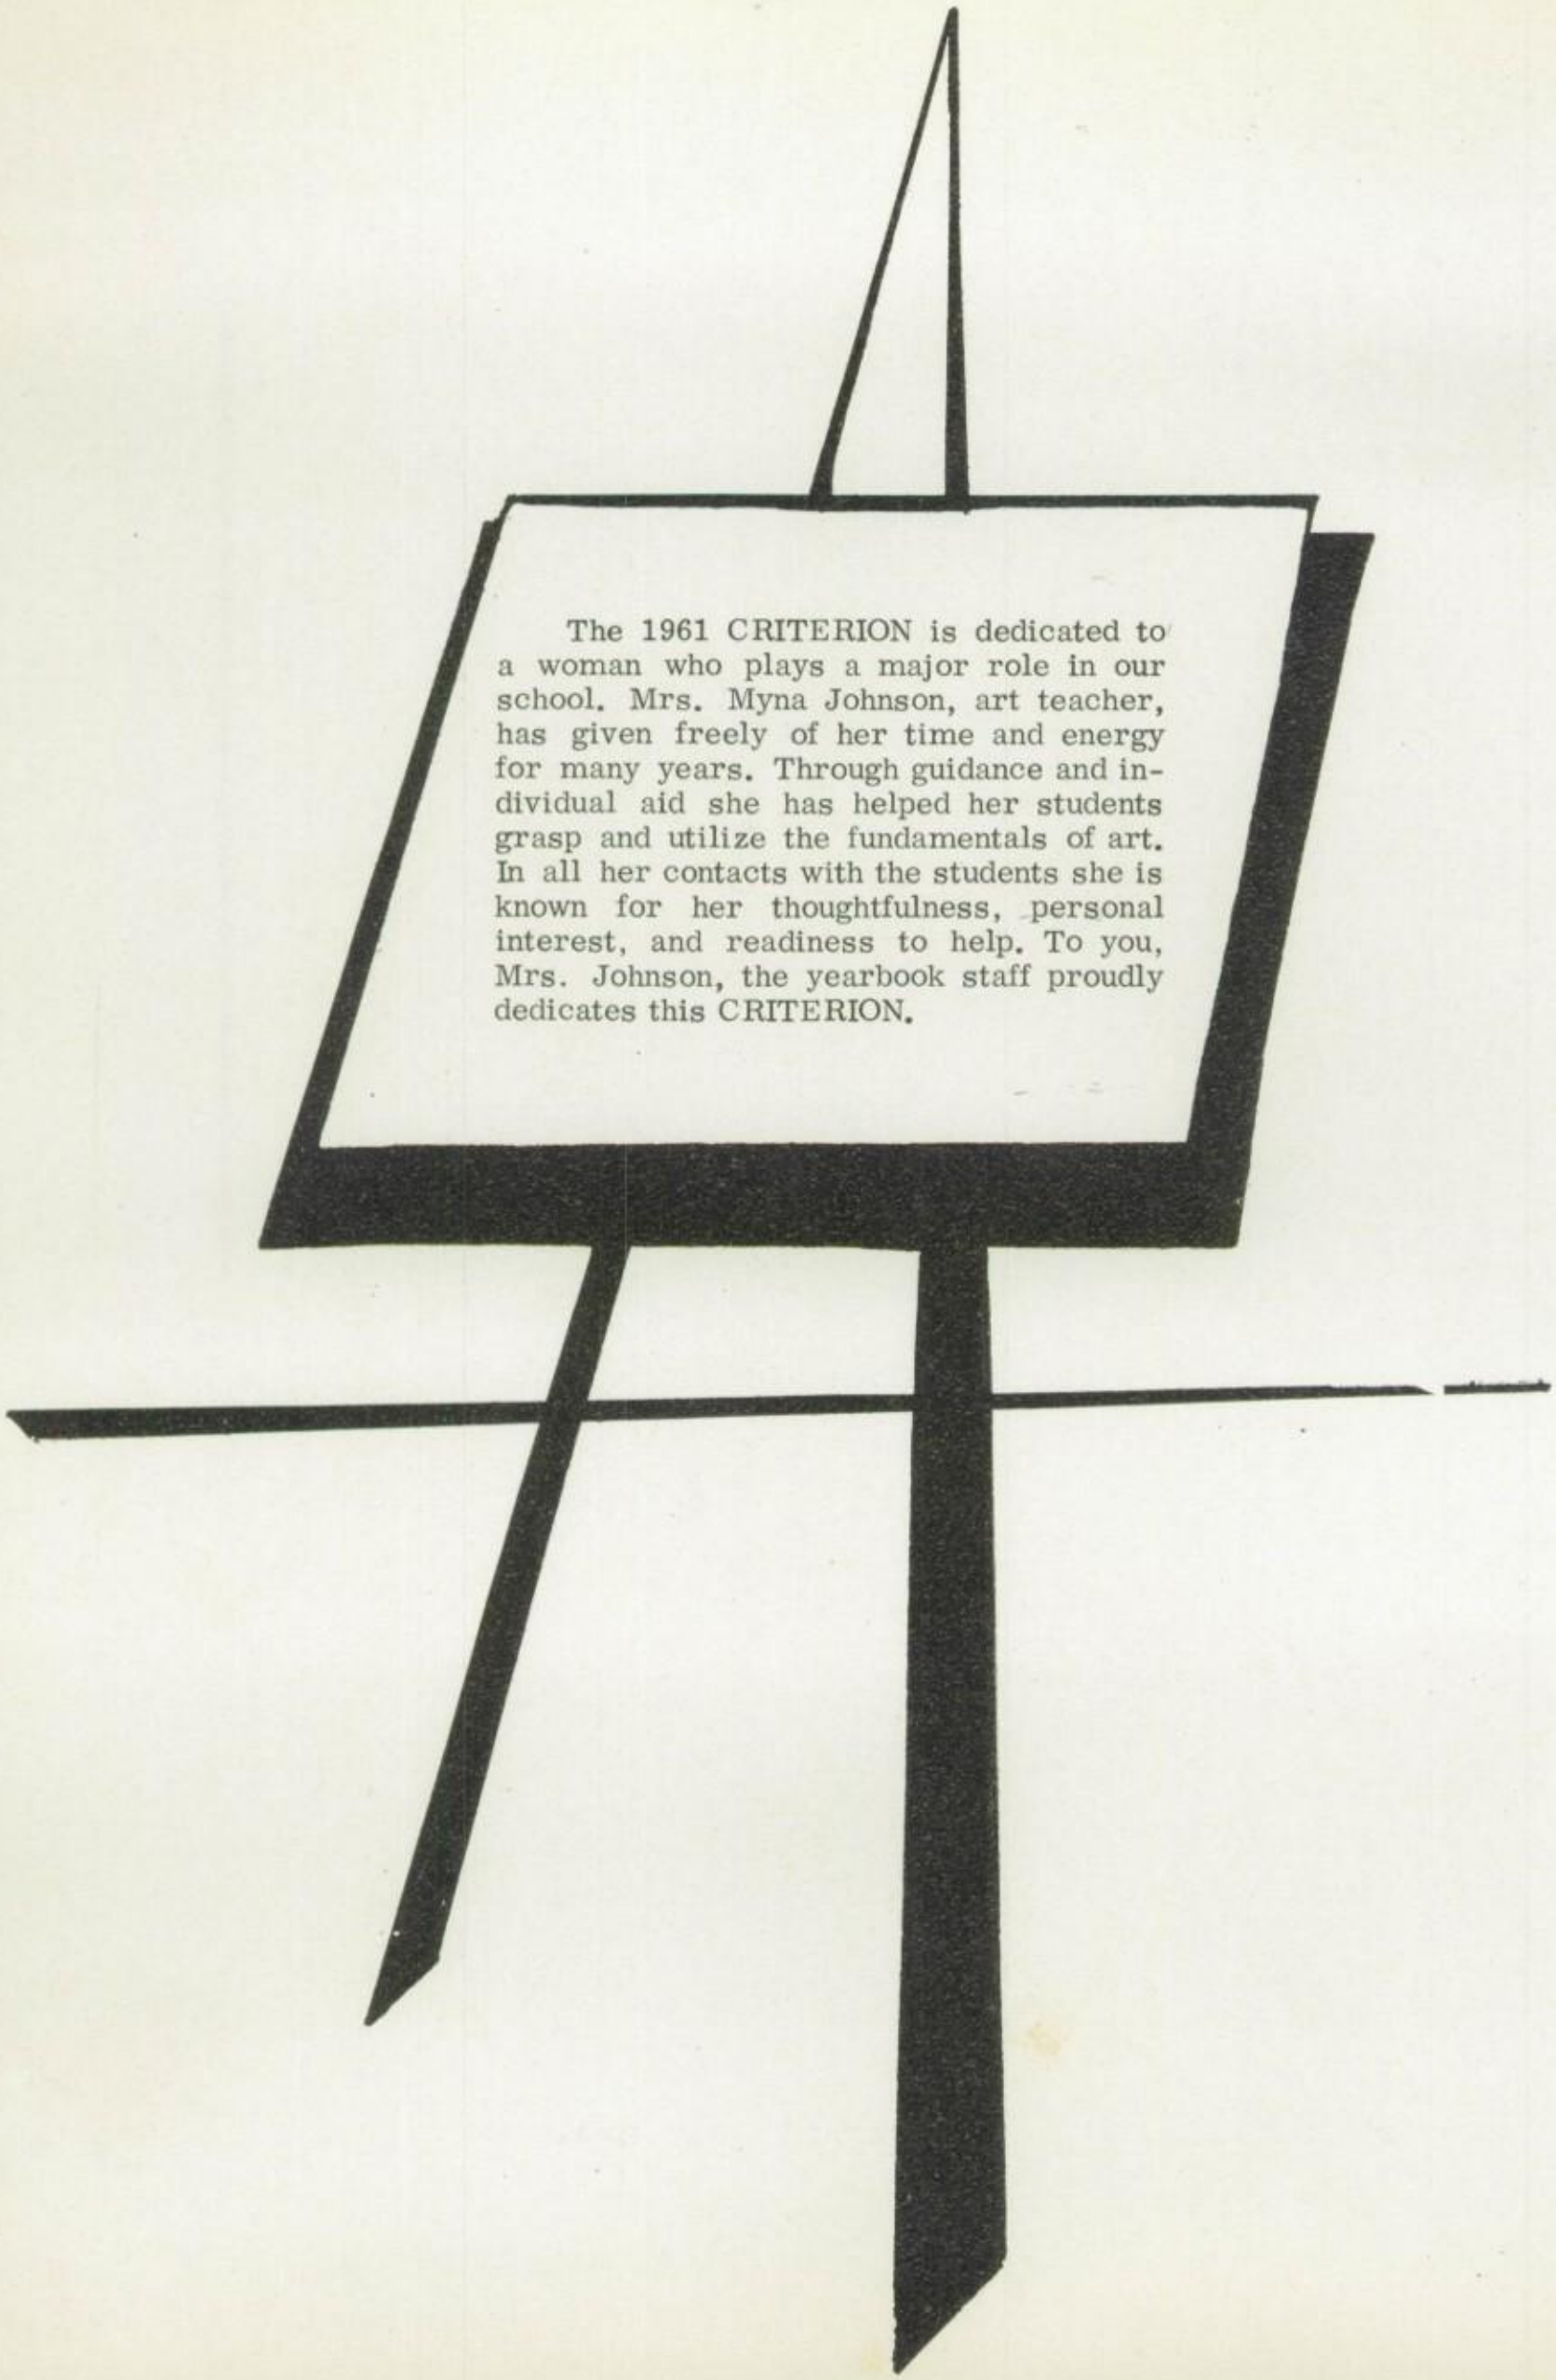
Criterion



The 1961 CRITERION is dedicated to a woman who plays a major role in our school. Mrs. Myna Johnson, art teacher, has given freely of her time and energy for many years. Through guidance and individual aid she has helped her students grasp and utilize the fundamentals of art. In all her contacts with the students she is known for her thoughtfulness, personal interest, and readiness to help. To you, Mrs. Johnson, the yearbook staff proudly dedicates this CRITERION.

A Song Of Ardmore

A song of Ardmore and her love so true
Comes wafting over the air
And thrills us through and through,
While the bells of victory do ring
We'll answer back by rising to sing-
Hail, Old Ardmore, hurrah, hurrah, hurrah!
Our alma mater, thou art loyal, brave, and true.
Her spirit guiding as we journey on,
We'll always wear the red and white for old Ardmore.
You may talk about your colleges, fair Harvard and old Yale.
And all the universities whose banners brave the gale.
The azure flag of Cambridge, and old Oxford noble blue
That fly in far-off England o'er hearts so brave and true.

From the sunny shores of Frisco to the distant Portland, Maine,
Away off to the Philippines and away back home again,
No college, university, or school can ever show
So brave, so true, so great a crew as students that we know.

Chorus

For we are jolly students of the Ardmore, Oklahoma schools,
Our colors are red and white.
We wear the emblem of our alma mater true--
We're the kind that dare and do.

(Repeat)

To the Students of Ardmore High School:

I am proud of you. In many respects I believe this is perhaps one of the best years in the history of your high school. Your desire to achieve excellence in citizenship, in character, in cooperative performance, and, above all else, in scholastic endeavor marks this student body one of the best. I should like also to express my appreciation to your principal and the faculty for fine leadership and excellent instruction.

Journalism

The Journalism Department, under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Wade, is one of the most responsible and rewarding courses Ardmore High School offers. Students gain an appreciation of publications which is acquired only through experience.

In addition to publishing their two principle projects, The Tiger Topics and the CRITERION, journalism students furnish The Daily Ardmoreite with stories and pictures publicizing school functions.

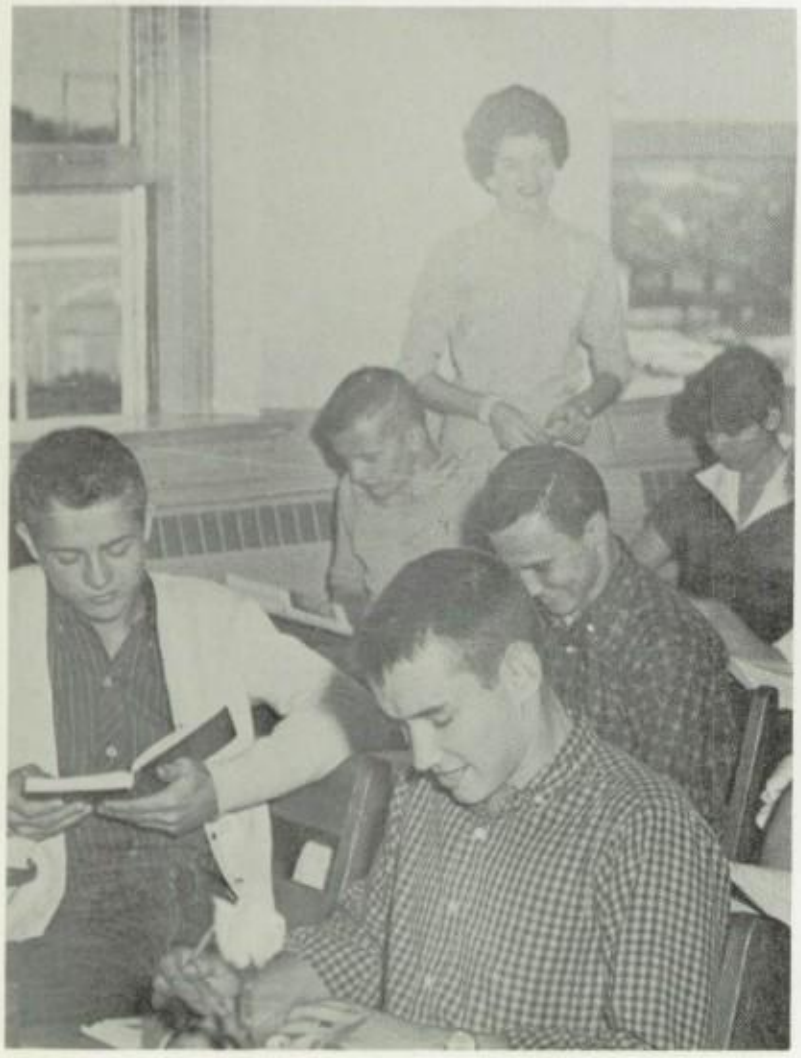
Fresh off the press!

What do you mean "Meet that deadline"?

Pictures are his pride.

English

English courses prove among the most beneficial throughout life. Constructive habits of both thinking and writing are stressed in all English classes. English II students divide their time equally between literature and grammar. Mr. Young, Miss Dupree, and Mrs. Morse are their instructors. A better understanding of our American heritage is impressed through the study of American literature in English III by Mrs. Wade, Miss Dupree, and Mrs. Morse. During the senior year Mrs. Sparger and Mrs. Hooper emphasize college preparatory work and English literature.



The junior boys go for English!

Seniors seek knowledge from the blackboard.

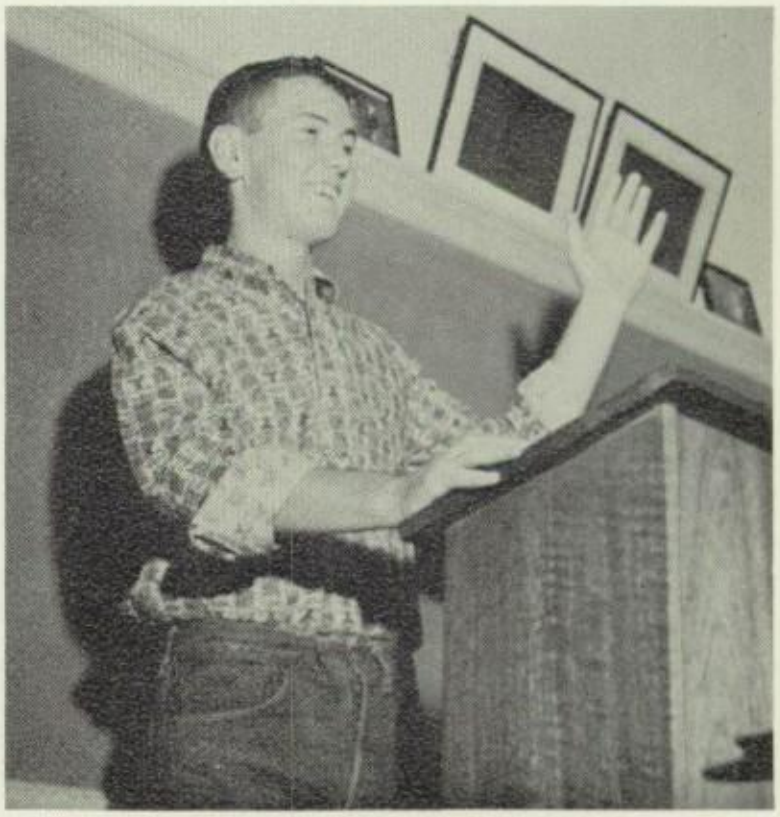
Girls, the teacher is the other way.

Speech

Under the direction of Mr. Jerry Young, speech students are taught to think constructively and critically, to develop speaking skills, and to express themselves through actions. These skills are put into actual practice through debate, public speaking, and participation in various dramatic productions. Through the language laboratory, which was added this year, students receive individual attention to help correct enunciation and improve vocal quality.

Live! That's the message!

Budding Thespians



"...And now for the commercial."

Ardmore High School's superior one-act play awards

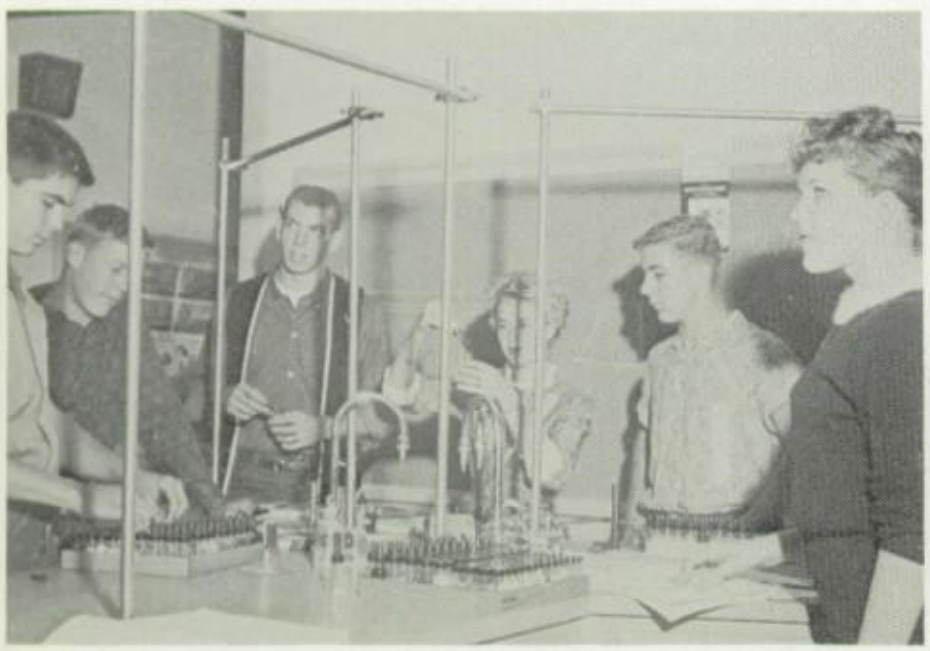
Physical Science

In a world in which increasing emphasis is being placed on science, Ardmore High is keeping in step with its modern physical science laboratory and classroom.

The students, under the direction of Mr. Wes Sullivan, learn the scientific principles necessary for advancement in today's age of the atom and satellite.

"But I don't see a bass!"

"What have I done now?"



Anyone for chess?

Does it tickle, Jim?

Natural Science

Through insect and plant collections, dissections, and microscopic observations which bring the printed page to life, biology students, with the aid of Mr. R. B. Goins, gain an understanding of the various forms of life. Other varied activities are provided in the well-balanced program which each day bring new discoveries and interests into the classroom.

But, Mother, he's too thin!

Oooh--take it away!

Blowfish and friends

Mathematics

Plane geometry used to be plain.

Yes, Oras, yours works just like Suzy's.

Mrs. Anita Ritchey and Mrs. Estaline Waters emphasize the importance of mathematical ability as they present to their students advanced mathematical courses. This year for the second year Mrs. Waters is teaching an S.M.S.G. Plane Geometry course and for the first time Mrs. Ritchey is teaching an S.M.S.G. Algebra II course. These two teachers also teach trigonometry and solid geometry to seniors.

This is Trig. and Mrs. Ritchey is at the front of the room!

Social Studies

And here is--- -----

Concentrate!

To learn about a greater understanding and appreciation of the heritage of our world, our nation, and our state is the objective of the history classes of Ardmore High.

World history is taught by Mr. Eugene Todd, American history by Miss Gail McWilliams, and Oklahoma history and civics by Mr. Dan Davis.

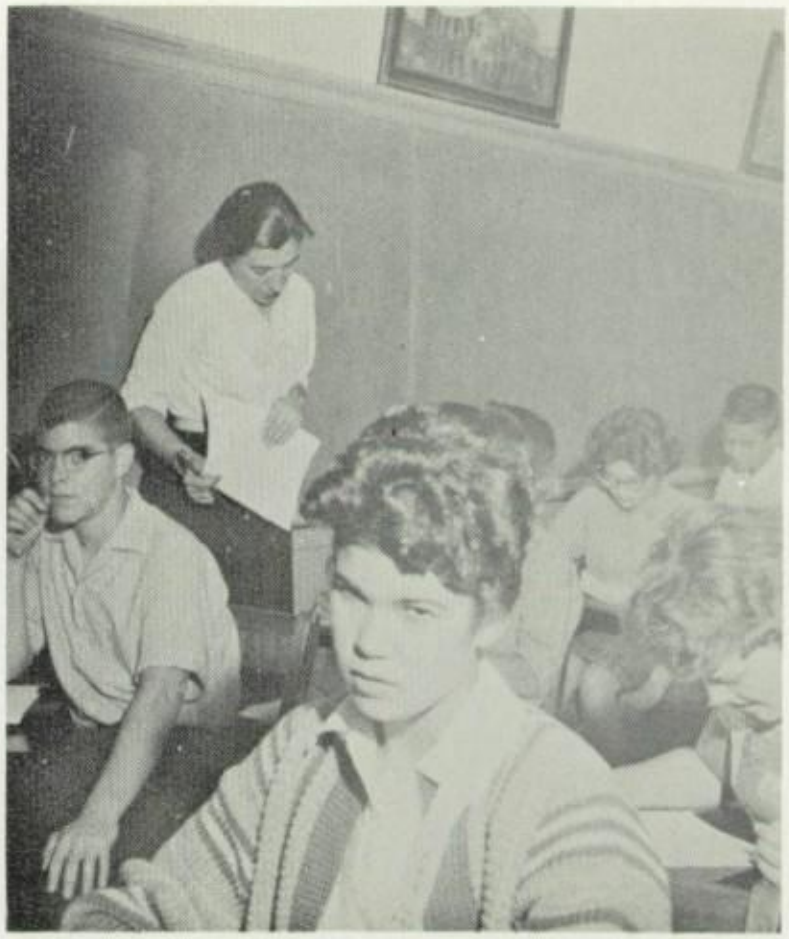
All three courses train our leaders of tomorrow in historical and governmental affairs.

Looks like it is unanimous.

Languages

To acquaint young people with the language, history, and traditions of other nations is the primary aim of the foreign languages. It is hoped that a deeper understanding will be gained of foreign cultures. which in turn, will decrease tension in a world of many complexities.

In the new language laboratory Mrs. Olive Hibbard teaches Spanish I and Spanish II. Mrs. Virginia P. Collins is the teacher of Latin I and Latin II.



"Why doesn't she come help me?"

Control tower A.H.S.--Come in tigers."

Ad ininitum - and so is the test.

Business Education

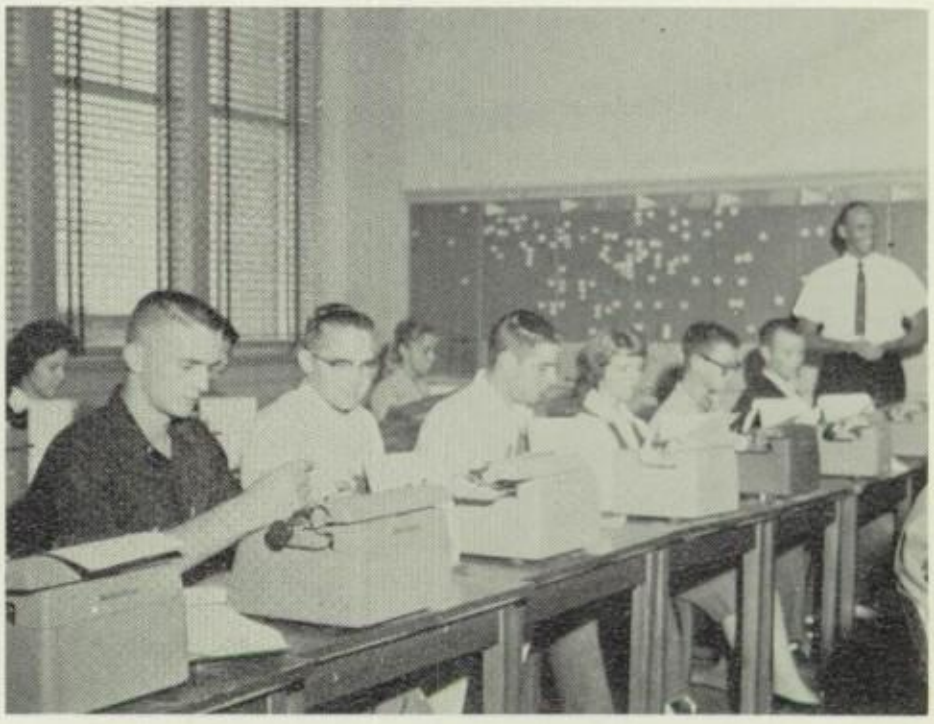
The Business Education Department offers courses which will prepare students for vocations in the business world. After taking shorthand, bookkeeping, typing, stenography, transcription, and business English, students are able to secure positions with good pay.

Typing is taught by Mr. Williams; Mrs. Akers instructs students in stenography, bookkeeping, and transcription. Business English is taught by Mrs. Hooper.

Let's get it right this time, Martha.

Work, work, work.

Business English is fun!



Onward, typists!

Music

An appreciation for music as well as training in this field for the individuals are the goals of the Ardmore High School Music Department. Under the direction of Mr. Dan Davis, the chorus has earned top honors in both district and state contests. Various groups from the music department have provided excellent entertainment for our school and our community throughout the year.

Up, up and away!

Enthusiastic musicians

A one, and a two, and.....

Art

"Art is everywhere," may very well be the theme of our A.H.S. artists.

Under the direction of Mrs. Myna Johnson, the art department is guided in the individual expression of styles and ideas.

Using the five essential elements - line, form, space, color, and center of interest, a student can create an inspiration of artistic beauty.

Unusual and colorful posters in the halls and downtown can also be attributed to these talented and industrious students.

Is the picture really that bad, Sally?

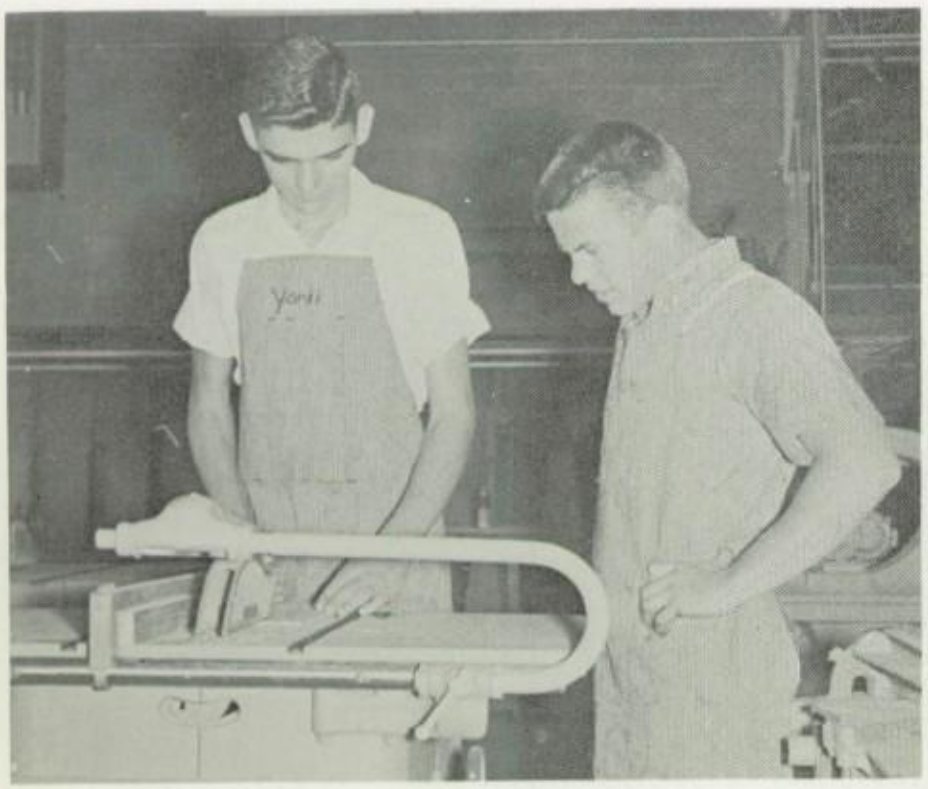
Mrs. Johnson is proud of this one.

Active artists hard at work.

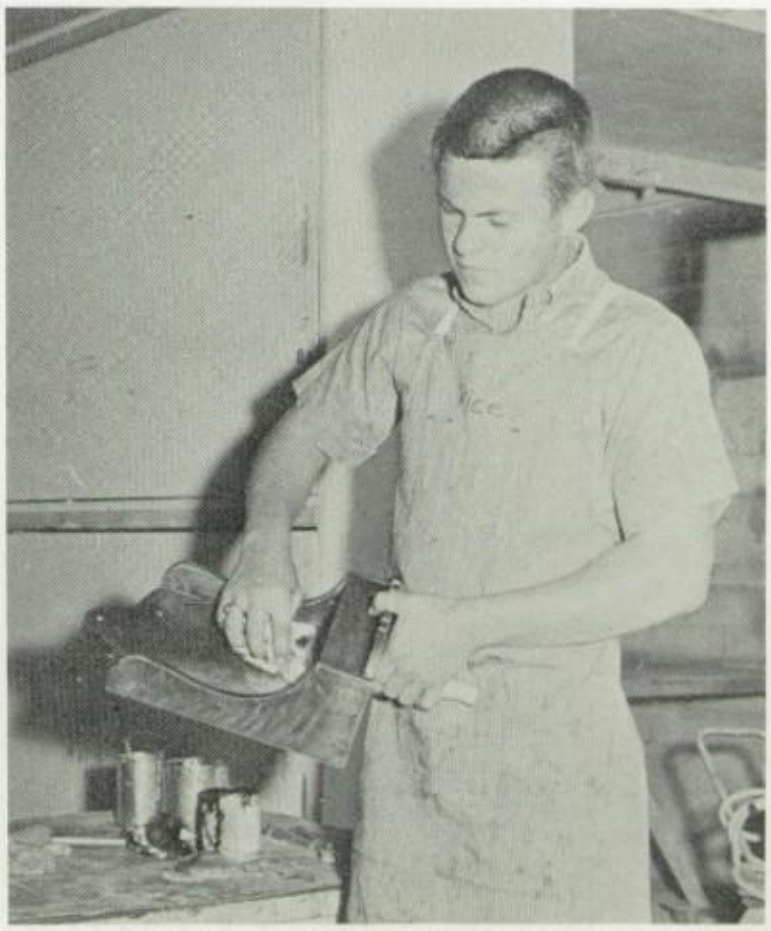
Industrial Arts

Rub-a-dub-dub.

The satisfaction of creating objects with the hands and, at the same time, learning a skill or trade are two of the primary objectives of the Industrial Arts Department. Mechanical drawing, woodworking, and general metals afford students opportunities for preparation for future vocations. Under the supervision of Mr. Gordon Sturdevant and Mr. Harry Dodd, many useful projects are carried out in these classes.



Ronald, watch your fingers.



Chuck, is it to take home?

Home Economics

Under the supervision of Mrs. Mary E. Busch, girls in Home Economics I, Home Economics II, and Home Nursing study the varied phases of homemaking. Child care, first aid, and personal living are taught to those taking Home Nursing. These girls become better prepared to cope with the problems confronting them when they have their own families. Sewing, cooking, household management, etiquette, and personal grooming are taught to the girls enrolled in Home Economics I and II.

Susan, do you always iron that way?

Watch that pin!

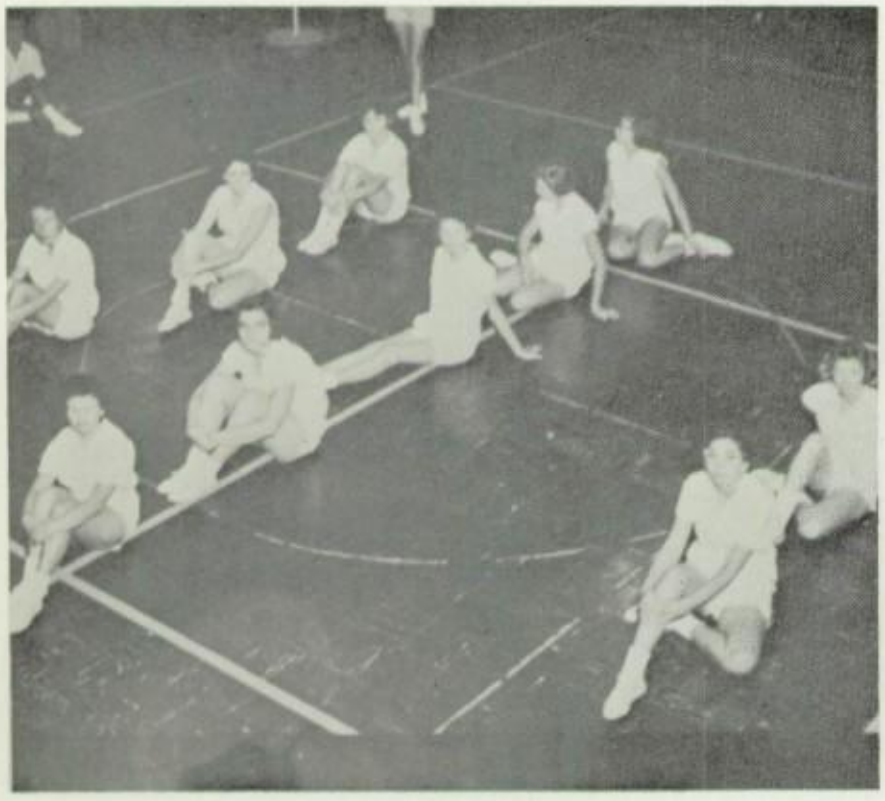
She should get well with so much help.

See the ball, Ann?

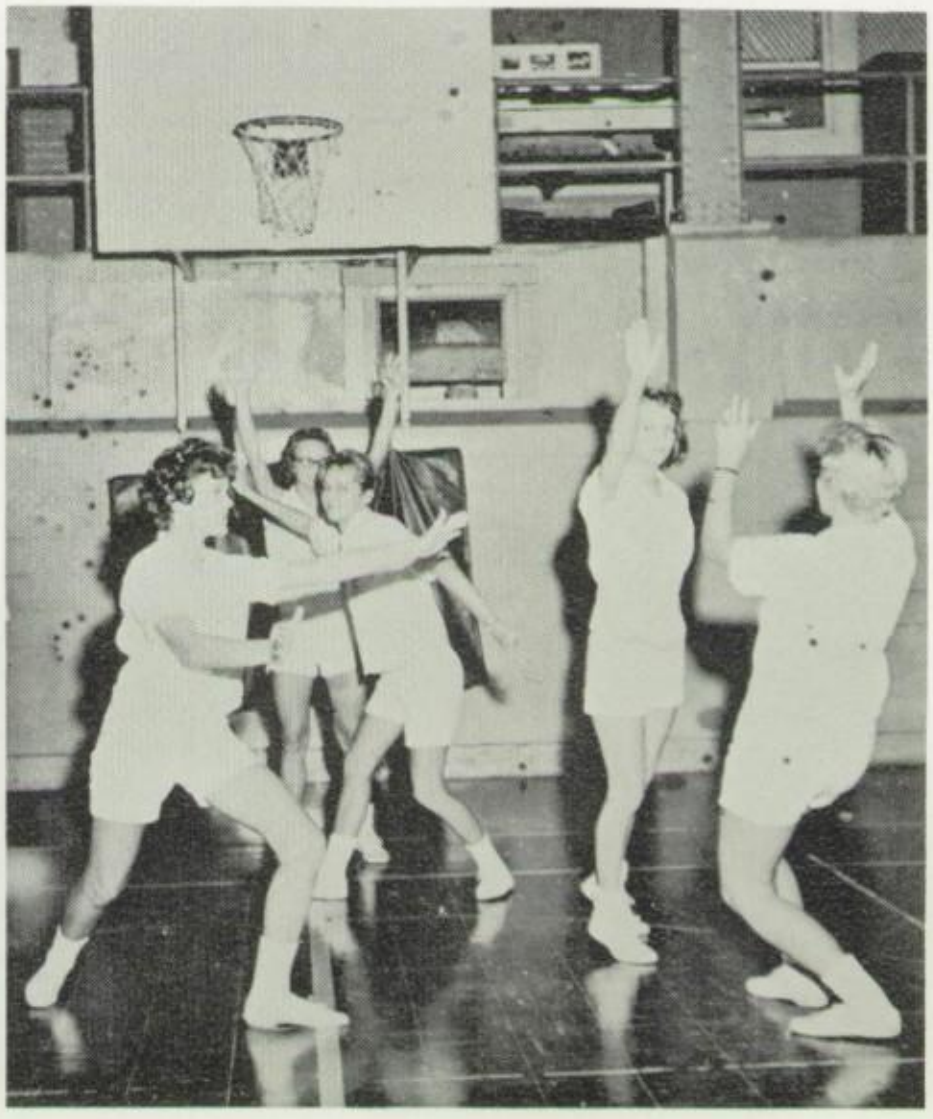
Girls' Physical Education

Posture and poise--enjoyment of sports--good sportsmanship—these are the main objectives of the physical education classes under the direction of Mrs. Fran Jacobson.

Through participation in the various sport activities, the girls have learned it is not necessary to be an expert to enjoy physical education. Basketball, volleyball, tennis, and soccer are played during the year with the winning teams gaining points toward athletic awards. Dancing and exercises also play an important role in achieving physical fitness.



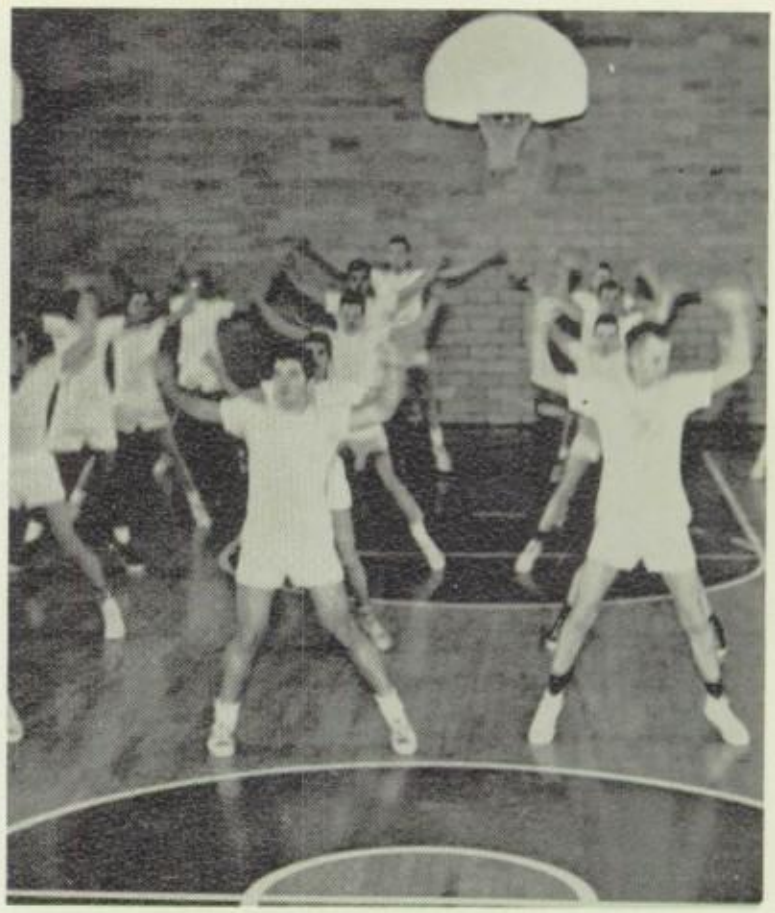
Everybody's here and dressed.



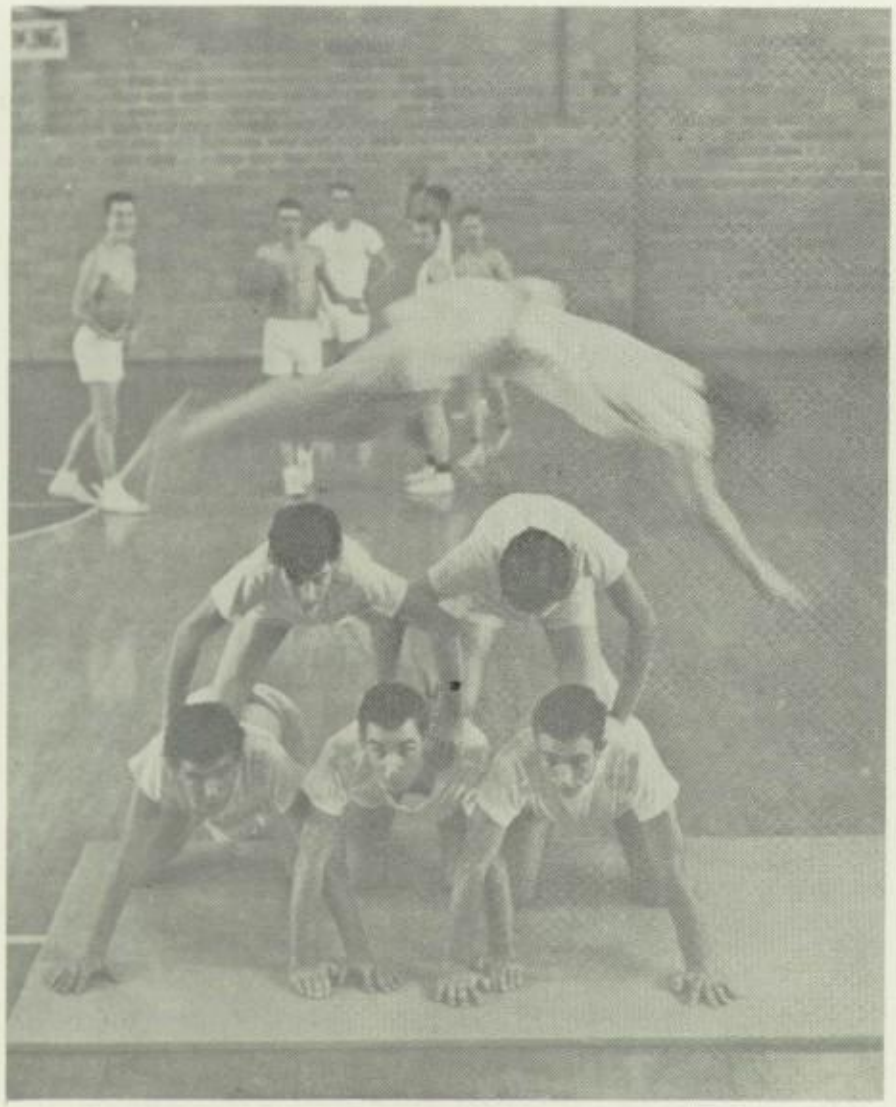
This is the "A" team?

Boys' Physical Education

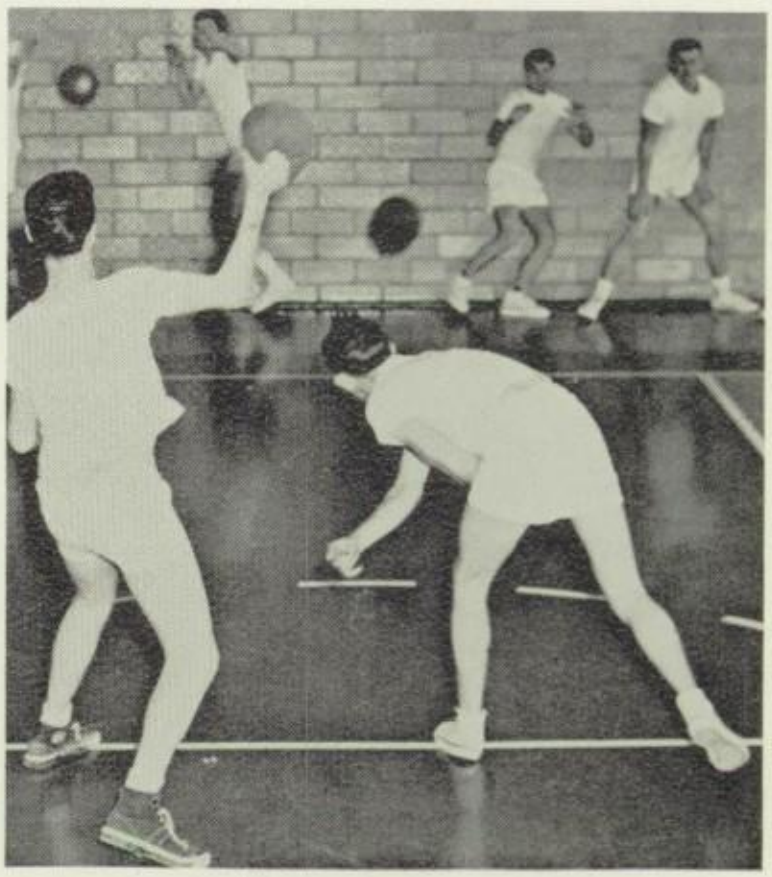
Under the direction of Mr. C. E. Jacobson and Mr. Harry Dodd, the boys receive a thorough training in various sports. In addition, they are molded into manhood by ideas of sportsmanship, fair play, and honesty. Through this education they learn to be alert, think quickly, and act accordingly. To train and mold these young men is the duty of our capable coaches.



Keeping trim.



Over the Mountain . . . . . .



But-you're squeezing the ball!

Did you pass, Carol Jean?

Guidance

Students who need help with college preparation can obtain information from testing personnel throughout the year. Mrs. Julia Sparger, testing supervisor and guidance counselor, is on hand three hours every day to direct students toward various careers and vocations.

Was it a funny question, Kit?

Extra, extra, read all about it!

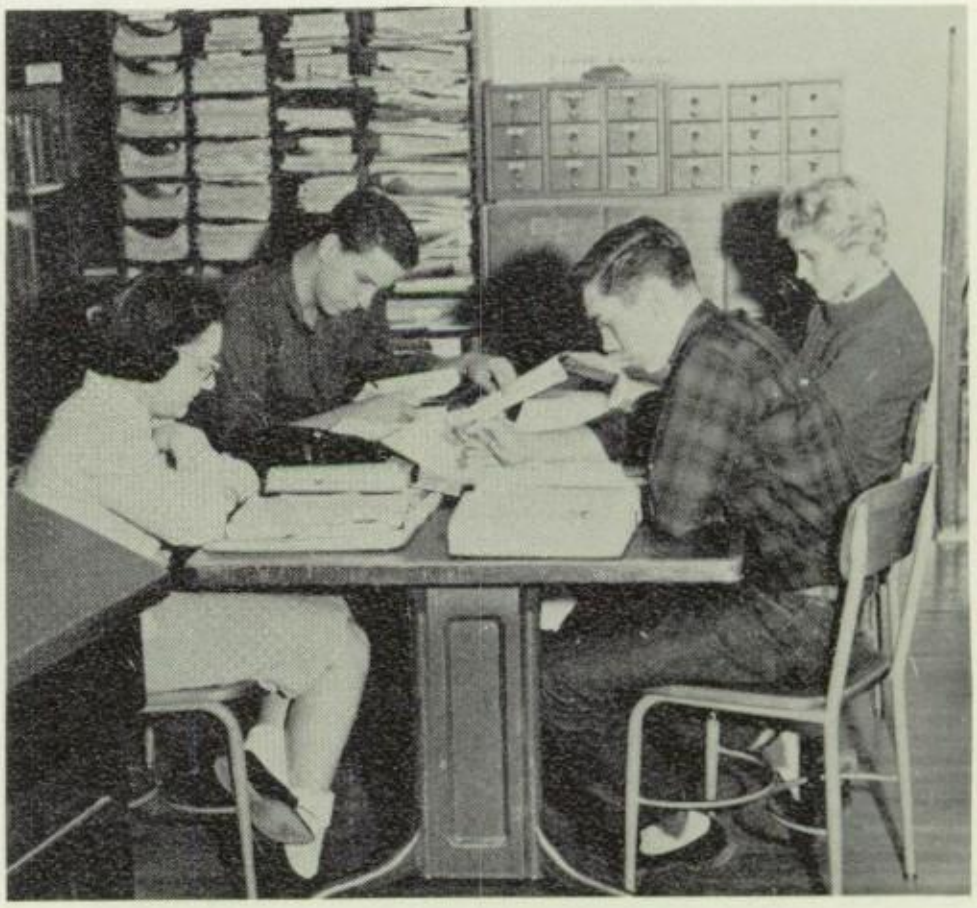
Library

The doors of knowledge are opened to students through the wide selection of books on hand in the library. Books are available on virtually every subject - science, history, art, philosophy, music, psychology, journalism, and other related subjects. Several sets of reference books afford students more explicit and technical information.

Students find Mrs. Blanche Sparks, librarian, a willing helper and an invaluable aid in locating material.

Intellectual moment

National Smile Week



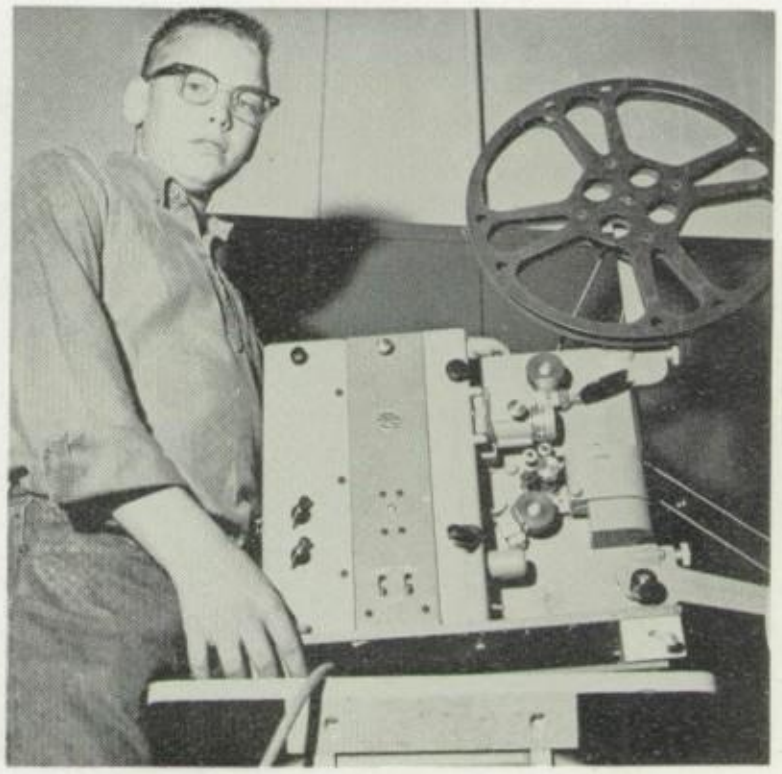
Cramming for semester exams!

Audio-Visual

Ardmore schools have an extensive audio-visual department under the competent supervision of Mrs. Irene McGoodwin, audio-visual co-ordinator. She is assisted by a senior high projectionist and an office girl each hour.

The audio-visual department shows educational films, helps students in the use of the tape recorders, and performs other valuable aids which further our education.

Do I learn now or later?



Somebody turn out the lights.

Driver Education

Surveys show a definite decrease in the accident rate among students who have had Driver Education as compared with those who have been haphazardly trained by parents or friends. With this in mind Mr. Eugene Todd instructs his students regarding the parts of the automobile, safe and courteous driving habits, and knowledge of traffic regulations.

Fasten your safety belts.

Leaflet Study Club, an honorary organization based on scholastic achievement and leadership, is sponsored by the Ladies of the Leaf, a literary group. The number of new members each year corresponds with the number of graduating senior members the previous year.

In their monthly meetings this year the girls studied the works of Pulitzer Prize winning authors. In the programs, in which reviews and cuttings were given by the members, each girl gained a greater comprehension of various phases of literature.

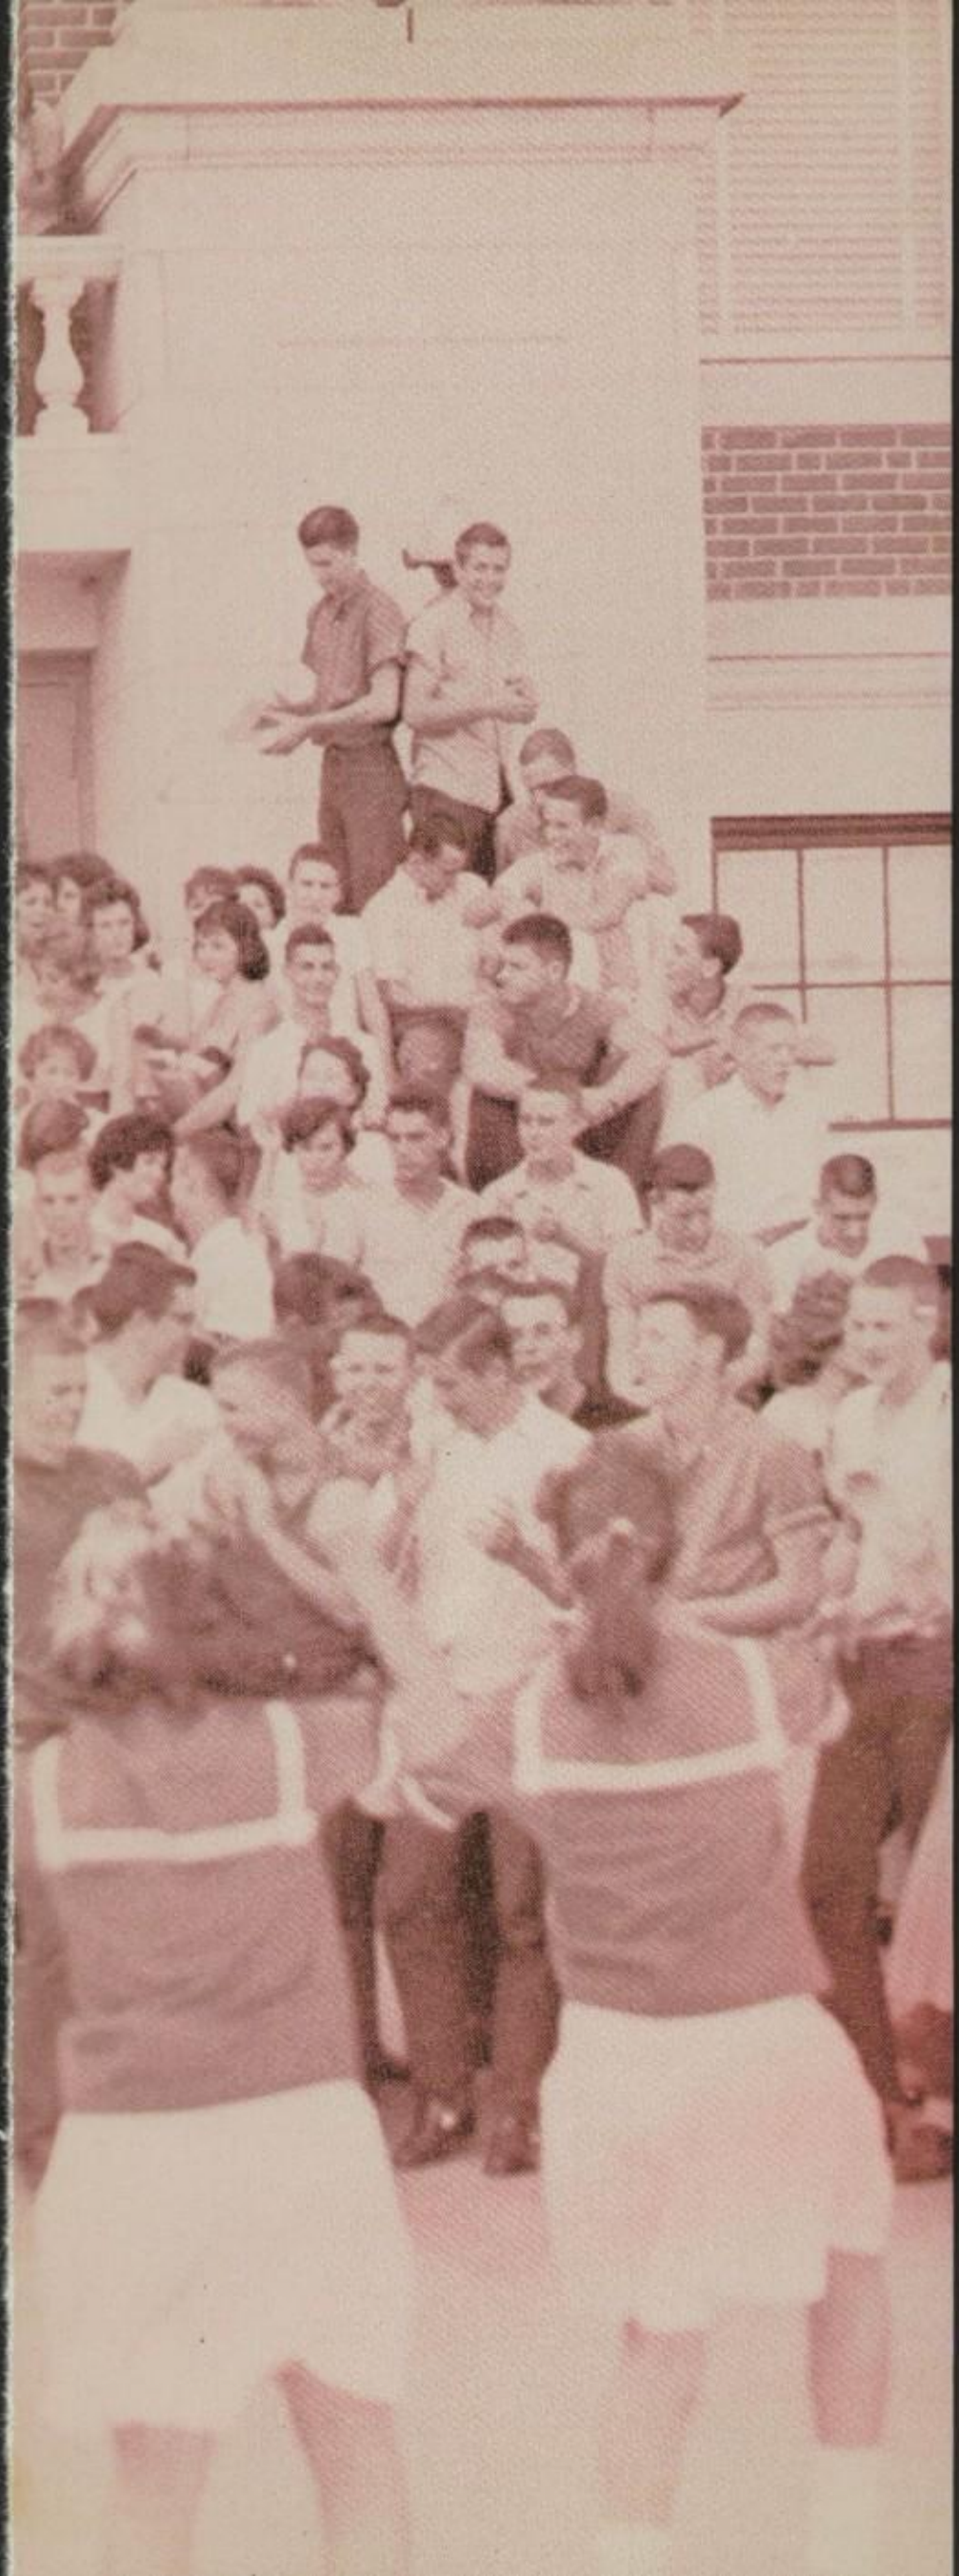
CLASSES



Seniors

As we, the senior class of 1961, leave A.H.S. with feelings of both happiness and regret, the memories of our last year will remain with us. Memories of . . .

. . .working together as a whole led by our outstanding officers, Steve Thompson, Linda Lanphere, and DeAnn England . . .

. . .raising our senior sign and feeling that sense of finality as it was lowered . . .

. . .working on our float and being rewarded by placing first . . .

. . .practicing constantly for our final production of the senior play . . .

. . .our team being led on by our enthusiastic cheerleaders Jane Robbins and Lynn Paschall . . .

. . .Alan Primrose and Doyle Williams making All-Conference . . .

. . .Jim Downey leading "The Pride of A.H.S." . . .

. . .Lynda Jones being crowned football queen and Connie Parsons band queen . . .

. . .our entire class participating in Student Council activities with Stan Moran as president and Cloma Couch, Ellen Sullivan, Bonnie Yordi, Linda Briscoe, Terry Gutshall, Jimmy Porter, Steve Thompson, David White, Bob Williams, and Doyle Williams as our representatives . . .

. . .and our National Honor Society members bringing recognition to our school.

In every phase of school life the Seniors were to be found, both leading and following. As a class we stood united, as individuals we will face the future.

Juniors

We, the juniors of 1961, upon completing the second step in our climb toward graduation think back over the year and remember ...

...Mike Frazier, Mac Cassity, and Carole Rickets providing the ability and hard work needed in shaping a successful year ...

...Linda and Dixie with their batons marching in front of the band ...

...Lena Beth accepting the vice-presidency in student council ...

...Our active council members, Theresa Busch, Nancy Cain, Cheryl King, Linda Love, Elizabeth Woods, Ruth Ann Hicks, Pat Kennedy, Don Lewis, Jeep Pylant, Phillip Marzolino, and Bill Stringer working diligently on numerous projects ...

...Charles Altom, Bill Byrd. Dub Carter, Jimmy Forbes, Mike Frazier, Will Johnston, De Lawler, Butch McClure, Nicky McGalliard, Ray Phillippe, Randy Smith, Scooter Stroman, Jeff Villines, and Bruce Wilkinson excelling in sports ...

...Congregating at the Super Dog for a coke ...

...And, of course, the never-to-be forgotten Junior-Senior Prom ...

This year has prepared us to go on with resolution and confidence to next year, when we shall assume the honor and responsibility of senior leadership.

Sophomores

We, the sophomore class, began our first year in senior high with enthusiasm led by our capable, hard-working class officers, Cathleen Yordi, Barbara Hulme, and Leslie Boggs.

The upperclassmen soon took notice of our immediate participation in the activities of the school. Kenny Stockdale, Terry Barrett, Leon Samples, Billy Jobe, and Jay Carter excelled in athletics ... our spirits boosted by the sophomore pep club members and cheerleaders, Ann Rogers and Ann McCoy ... our top scholastic standing achieved by our honor rollers and straight-A students ... Ronnie Nance, one of our class's greatest assets -- a fine example of ability plus ambition ... the excellent job our student council members, Nancy Liles, Cathleen Yordi, Kathy Morter, Sandra Williams, Judy Yandell, Carol Jean Mayo, Lois Stallcup, Terry Barrett, Kenny Stockdale, Robby Barrett, Billy and Fred Whitehurst, Tom Carlock, and Sam Veazey did throughout the entire year . . .

After looking back on our first year in A.H.S., we turn to look forward to the years lying ahead, in which we shall strive for even higher achievement in all phases of high school life.
